Malaria is one of the great scourges of the world today. It is a modern day plague and affects 1 in 5 people!

In Africa it is the biggest killer of pregnant woman and children under five, yet, over a million lives can be saved each year just by equipping endemic areas with insecticide treated mosquito nets. Sleeping under an ITN is a simple and cheap intervention that can turn the tide on the ravages of the disease.

AFADU and Dr Makore at the Chikombedzi Hospital in Southern Zimbabwe desperately need your help.

BUY 1 NET & SAVE 1 LIFE

Help us buy 1000 nets for Chikombedzi Hospital to distribute to pregnant women and children.

1 Net = AUS $10 / US $7 / UK £4.

Your donation will help AFADU and Dr Makore:

- Buy treated mosquito nets to give to pregnant women at their check-ups and teach them how to use them,
- Travel to outlying clinics and schools to reach those who can not come to the hospital,
- Set up an income-generating project for local women, to purchase nets and sell them at the local markets. They will learn how to repair and re-treat the nets, and as education and use of the nets grow, they will provide a service to the rest of the community.
